Thriving on Change

Diversional and Recreation Therapy Australia is the peak professional body for those working in the field. DRTA's annual conference is open to all diversional therapists, recreation or leisure therapists, activity officers, DT assistants, academics, researchers, students and those interested in the professional practice of Diversional and Recreation Therapy and care through leisure. The conference will showcase best practice, update knowledge and skills, provide networking with your peers from across Australia and reinvigorate your professional life.

"Thriving on Change" asks us to embrace the changes across the profession, our client groups and organisations. It also speaks to a new acknowledgement of the need for self-care. More than ever before we see that we cannot fulfil the expectations and needs of all the stakeholders in this field if we are not dedicating time and attention to self-care. Ideas and inspirations will come from across and beyond the field of Diversional and Recreation Therapy. As practitioners, support workers, consumers and professionals in and around our field we are all seeking new ideas, skills and perspectives to bring to future practice.

A Trade Exhibition with a range of exhibitors from around the country will provide opportunities to find new and innovative resources, services, learning opportunities or perhaps even pick up something brilliant directly from the supplier.

Key Note Speakers

Opening Speaker Day 1 Friday 13th September 2019

Renee Smith, Consultant, Dementia Support Australia

Cultivating and finding growth is not only about having a "green thumb" - what's your fertiliser so you Thrive on Change?

In an ever-changing professional arena, Renee has long been involved in providing guidance and leadership around Diversional Therapy. Renee graduated from Western Sydney University (formerly the University of Western Sydney) with a Bachelor of Applied Science in 2003. During these first years of study, it wasn't unusual for others within the allied health realm to call DTs 'basket weavers'. Others would see DTs as the 'jack of all trades' and 'babysitters' in the industry. They were often asked the question, "Sorry - what is a Diversional Therapist?". It was this kind of misunderstanding of the profession that added fuel to Renee's drive for change and led her to thrive on change.

Over the past 16 years within the aged care industry Renee has worked as an independent Diversional Therapist, a Diversional Therapy Manager, an Allied Health consultant, private consultant, TAFE teacher and currently, Renee is a Consultant with Dementia Support Australia. Each role provided experiences, challenges and opportunities to learn and to teach as well as motivating her to change and grow within an ever-changing industry. As part of that change, Renee completed the Bachelor of Dementia Care in 2017, which complements her DT and Dementia Consultant position. As a member of DRTA since university, Renee served as a board member for DTA NSW, worked with a team of members within the professional body as National Chair through the birth of Diversional Therapy Australia, our National Association, in 2009. Although over the last number of years, Renee had taken a step back from DRTA Board roles, her passion to start those conversations and promote the profession never waivers. She is constantly finding ways to explain and promote the value of the roles we all fulfil in supporting people across every area of Diversional Therapy practice.

A question will be posed to you - one that Renee has always asked of herself - What is the one thing I can commit to now, in my personal quest to Thrive on Change? You will come away with your own plan!

Opening Speaker Day 2 Saturday 14th September 2019

Dr Cindy Jones, Associate Professor of Behavioural Sciences, Faculty of Health Sciences & Medicine, Bond University

It ain't too late! Sexuality, Ageing & Dementia

Dr. Cindy Jones is an Associate Professor of Behavioural Sciences at Bond University and a Research Fellow with the Menzies Health Institute Queensland, Griffith University. The focus of her work includes an exploration of relationships in long-term care; expression of sexualities by older people with/(out); psychosocial interventions using social robots and telepresence robots for people with dementia; and quality of and evidence-based dementia care. Dr Jones has been the leading educator on sexualities and dementia in Australia (a neglected aspect of care for people with dementia).

In collaboration with the Dementia Training Australia (DTA - formerly known as Queensland Dementia Training and Study Centre), she developed a resource titled 'Sexualities & Dementia: Education for Health Professionals'. This work has received extensive media coverage in Australia, as well as significant research and policy interest. As part of the dissemination of this education resource, Dr Jones has delivered hundreds of workshops, seminars and webinars on this topic for health professionals and staff from aged care organisations nationwide and internationally. In 2019, she has received a grant funding from Dementia Australia Research Foundation to develop and evaluate a tool to improve the care and support of people with dementia in long-term care settings from a person-centred approach.

Pre conference workshop

Thursday 12th September 2019

Activities, Activities, Activities - a NEW Feast of Takeaway CAFÉ (Creative Activities For Everyone) ideas (includes booklet of Activities to keep) A day of activities - workshoping through many activities with extras to take away with you.

The DRTA Takeaway CAFÉ's are an integral part of DRTA workshops. We know the demand for more activity ideas is high on the list of what we need as Diversional Therapists and Recreational Officers and this workshop delivers just that.

This hands on workshop will work through another swag of our popular Takeaway café ideas including some practical, hands on experiences working the activities and with demonstrations of other activities that you can do with no or very few resources. If you attend this workshop you will take away a booklet of all the activities (all different from last year's workshop) as a resource that you can refer back to. Don't miss out on this excellent practical workshop that will feed your need for activity ideas and more!

Stephania Bejma - DRTA National Education Coordinator will guide the day giving hands-on experience of the activities and ideas - you can go back to your clients and confidently introduce the activities demonstrated.

DRTA 2019 Awards Celebration and Cocktail Party

Friday 13th September 2019

The DRTA Awards for Excellence celebration has become an important event of itself! A unique award directed at DRTA Members offering the prestige, recognition and showcasing of your best programmes and events.

There are usually three runners up selected before conference with the valuable first prize Awarded on the night. All runners up are presented with a certificate and their project is described to the attendees on the night – an exciting evening with finger food and a drink to celebrate (a bar will be available to purchase further drinks and keep networking).

Remember - This year marks DRTA's 10th Anniversary as our national professional body!

The cocktail party awards night will sparkle as we celebrate 10 years of networking, learning and sharing with amazing colleagues....and sheer hard work by members and volunteer boards! Add some sparkle to your attire to help set the mood!

Queensland's own Leah Sullivan, (DRTA Queensland Board Rep) will be our host after the official awards and she will add fun prizes, dancing and who knows there may even be a special cocktail on offer!

This event is included in any 2 day registration. If you would like your guest/s to attend please purchase extra cocktail party tickets to cover their attendance. Single day registration does NOT include the special cocktail event. This event provides us with social and networking opportunities and a chance to unwind after a BIG conference Day 1. Delegates then have the opportunity to take in the iconic Surfers Paradise nightlife, maybe have a meal or just relax and prepare for the next conference day!

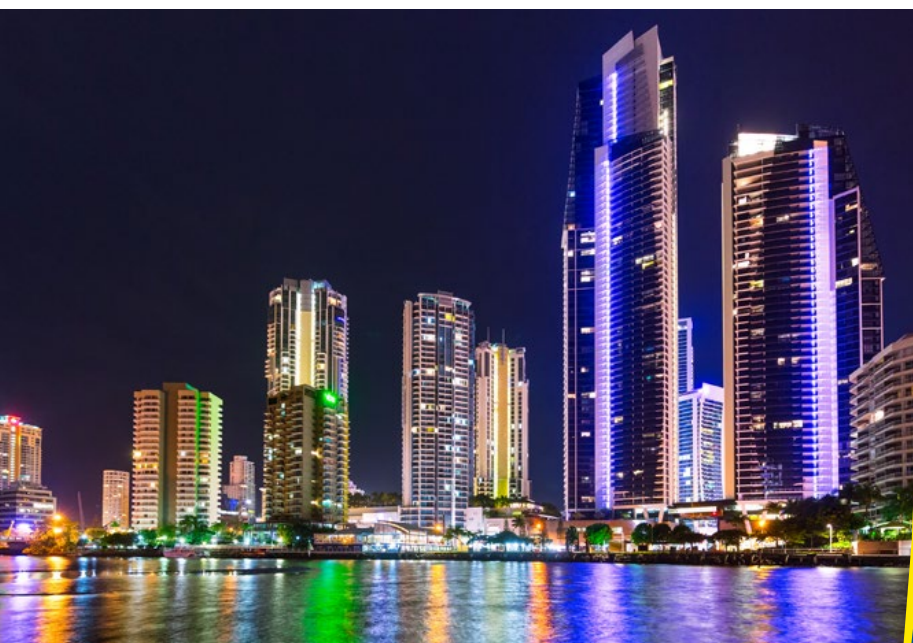

Conference Package

Full registration to attend the conference includes morning tea, afternoon tea and lunch on Friday and morning tea and lunch on Saturday. The exciting DRTA Award for Excellence presentation Cocktail Party event is also included. In addition, delegates will receive an abstract booklet, delegate tote bag and access to the trade and poster exhibition.
